- 7.2. If your employment terminates during the year, except when terminated by resignation or for acts of Gross Misconduct, the minimum hours detailed in clause 7.1 will be pro-rated to reflect such proportion of the year as has expired (such calculation will be made by reference to the number of full weeks which have expired in the year). For example, if your employment is terminated by the Company after 26 weeks, the minimum hours for that year will be 168 hours.
- 7.3. Save as provided for herein the Company does not guarantee that there will always be suitable work to which you can be allocated. - 8.6. You are required to cooperate with the Company to provide information so that the Company can determine whether or not you are eligible for expenses. Failure to do so will mean the Company will not be able to process any expenses during the course of your employment.

9. HOLIDAYS

If you work less than 260 days in a full working year your entitlement to paid annual leave will be pro-rated accordingly. Holiday pay will be paid to you on a weekly basis in addition to your gross pay and shown as a separate and distinct amount on your payslip or, in the event of a specific request, holiday pay will be retained in a holiday fund and paid at such time as any holidays are taken. You will be paid for each day of holiday authorised by the Company at an hourly rate calculated on the basis of your average income over the 12 weeks preceding the holiday.
- 9.7. The Company may require the Employee to take holidays during periods when no assignment is available.
- 9.8. The Employee may only request and take holidays that have been accrued in the current holiday year. Holidays must be taken at times agreed by the Company and the Company's Client (where appropriate) and sufficient notice of request to take holiday must be given to the Company and our Client.
- 9.9. On termination of employment the Employee will receive a payment equivalent to any holidays accrued but not taken in the holiday year in which the employment terminates. The entitlement can be calculated by multiplying the total period of leave to which the Employee is entitled by the proportion of the employment terminates. The entitlement can be calculated by multiplying the total period of leave to which the Employee is entitled by the proportion of the leave year which has expired before the employment terminates, less any period of leave taken between the start of the leave year and the terminate date.
- 9.10. If on the termination of your employment, you have taken holidays in excess of the statutory holiday entitlement which has accrued to you at that time you will be required to repay the Company in respect of these holidays.
